

1 ABSTRACT

2 A color-fast material and method of making same, the material having a combination of a 3 first component with substantial stretch properties and a second component with 4 substantially lower stretch properties than those of the first component wherein the 5 material is a fabric manufactured by knitting, weaving, non-woven or other fabric 6 manufacturing process and the material is dyed prior to fabric formation for providing a 7 material having superior color-fastness and color-uniformity in both stretched and relaxed 8 states.